Committed to Quality of Life

At McCormick Home, we understand that quality of life is a primary concern for our residents and their families. We endeavour to meet the physical, medical, spiritual and emotional needs of our residents through customized care plans and offer a wide range of services.

Our Care Philosophy

Our philosophy of relationship-centred care at McCormick Home acknowledges the importance of establishing quality relationships among residents, staff, volunteers, and family and community members, and working together to provide comprehensive, compassionate care.

Our relationship-centred care principles recognized that relationships are a priority, every person matters, and everything is connected.

McCormick Home has been providing quality long-term care since it was founded by the McCormick Care Group (formerly the Women's Christian Association) in 1892. The home, which cares for 160 residents at its location on Kains Road (at Oxford Street and Commissioners Road), is an accredited organization that is regulated by the Ministry of Health and Long-Term Care.

Everyone in our safe, vibrant, caring community feels like they belong and make a difference. Meaningful relationships help us all feel healthier, and that we matter.

Specialized Dementia Services

In addition to long-term care support for residents, we also offer specialized care and accommodations for those living in the advanced stages of dementia in our Memory Lane home area. Given the particular needs of our residents with these conditions, our staff offer helpful and responsive approaches that enable residents to achieve an enhanced quality of life.

Hair Salon – The hair salon is open on a regular basis for hair care at reasonable rates for male and female residents.

Social Work Services – A registered social worker is available to assist residents and families with the process of adjustment and to provide counselling and support as needed.

Resident and Family Councils – The Resident Council provides a forum for resident participation and encourages the sharing of suggestions and ideas for future council activities. It also provides a mechanism to support and promote residents' rights, autonomy and decision making. The Family Council serves as a link between the residents and the home's management team. In its advocacy function, the council focuses on quality of life for our residents.
